

Tamara Hurst, Ph.D., LCSW

Tamara Hurst is an Associate Professor with the School of Social Work at The University of Southern Mississippi. She earned her doctorate from The University of Georgia School of Social Work. She is an alumnus of a Doris Duke Foundation Fellowship for the Promotion of Child Well-Being. Dr. Hurst is a licensed certified social worker with 16 years of experience as a forensic social worker including work as a mitigation specialist and 8 years of experience as a forensic interviewer. She serves on the Mississippi Human Trafficking Council and chairs the Strategic Planning and Trafficking Protocol subcommittee. She is the principal investigator of the SOAR to Health and Wellness Demonstration Program. This five-year federally funded program seeks to establish human trafficking response protocols and a continuum of care in nine of Mississippi's most southeastern counties. Dr. Hurst is also a co-director for the USM Center for Human Trafficking Research and Training.